ABOUT ANARCHISTS. At the meeting of the Central Labor Union in Clarendon Hall yesterday the following resolutions, introduced by James Ryan, the delegate of the Photo-Engravers' Union, were passed by a unanimous vote:

Whereas, The miners of this country are engaged in a struggle for the alleviation of their miserable conditions; and

Whereas, They have conducted their struggle in a lawful and peaceable manner; and

Whereas, A party of Pennsylvania miners, while endeavoring to secure the co-operation of their fellow-miners, and while marching peaceably on the public highway, as is their right under the Constitution of the United States, were met by the Sheriff of Luzerne Country, Penn., at the head of one hundred deputies, who, without any right or warrant, fired upon these defenceless men, killing nineteen of them and wounding forty-two others, some of whom will die;

Resolved, That in view of this outrage the Central Laber Union of New-York hereby calls upon all fair-minded citizens to unite with it in protesting against this wholesale murder, and in demanding that the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania institute a rigorous investigation into the circumstances surrounding this murder, and in demanding that the prosecuting authorities of Luzerne County use all diligence in bringing the guilty person or persons to justice.

Before the passage of the resolutions Mr. Ryan

Before the passage of the resolutions Mr. Ryan said that words were not strong enough to con the shooting of the men. Other delegates talked in the same vein, and then George Warner, delegate of the Machinists' Union, said the New-York Debating Club was holding a meeting in an upper hall to discuss the shooting of the miners, and its members desired the Central Labor Union to cooperate with them in protesting against the wilful

Several of the delegates wanted to know something about the New-York Debating Club. William O'Brien declared that if Mr. Kelly, the president of the club, was the man who associated Emma Goldman, the Anarchist, then he did not want anything to do with the club.
"I object to hearing the committee of the New-York Debating Club," continued Mr. O'Brien, less we know who they are. This man (Kelly) got the privilege of the floor at the meeting of the Building Trades' section of the Central Labor Union, and we learned afterward that Miss Emma Goldman was with him."

Delegate McGill wanted to know what wrong Emma Goldman had done. "She is not more radiia Goldman had done. "She is not more radi-he continued, "than Cardinal Manning, who ial," he continued, than Carrient to take bread."

The delegates were worked up to a high state of excitement, and Daniel Harris said that he was afraid that the Central Labor Union was running

"Mr. Maher says that our protest will be of no avall, yet I think that if it goes out, it will stir up 50,000,000 people," he added. "This shooting could not have occurred in monarchical England, I do not know who the New-York Debating Club is, but I will welcome anybody who will stand up against these murders, even if it be Emma Goldman, Mr. Kelly or John Most. This trouble of the miners will not down. There will be meetings all over the country to condemn these dastardly murders. The Central Labor Union is not the only labor body that has taken up this subject to-day."

There was then considerable discussion as to the propriety of giving to the committee of the New-York Debating Club the privilege of the floor, and it was finally agreed by vote to do so.

Mr. Kelly, of the committee, was then introduced, and he said that the headquarters of the club were

and he said that the headquarters of the club were at Eightieth-st. and Avenue A.

"I believe," he continued, "that the time has arrived for the adoption of something more than that which has already been done. I do not say what should be done. The time will arrive when somebody else's blood than that of workmen will be shed if this thing continues. Is Emma Goldman to be shuaned because she is trying to have liberated from prison a young man who was trying to do something practical?"

J. H. Smith, another member of the New-York Debating Club, was then permitted to speak. He declared that the right of workmen to come together and hold meetings had always been continued. "We hear a lot about foreigners," he continued. "We hear a lot about foreigners," he continued. "We are told that these murdered men were only foreigners. I am conceited enough to think that had they been Americans they would not have been shot, and that there would now be a dearth of deputies in Pennsylvania. The days of words have gone by. We must do something else than talk. If it is the privilege of the capitalistic kovernment of Pennsylvania to shoot men down, it is the privilege of the government of New-York to do likewise.

It was then voted that a committee of three be appointed to attend the meeting of the Debating Club, which desired co-operation.

Delegate Kane objected to the Central Labor Union co-operating with the Debating Club, "I say that these men are howling Anarchists," he declared. "I do not think the Central Labor Union should co-operate with them in holding a mass-meeting or anything else. They will deliver tirades against society and everything in general if we have a meeting in Madison Square."

James McGill, delegate of the Plasterers' Union, declared that on workingman should join the militia. "We stand too much," he added. "We would not have done it if we had lived one hundred years ago." Delegate Warner said that he was in favor of abolishing all National, State and municipal constitutions. "They were made 256 or 159 years ago," he went on, "and are not suitable for our present needs. The constitutions should be made from time to time, and then in times of election we could hold government officials responsible for their acts. We are now governed by injunction."

UNION PACIFIC AND THE OREGON LINES. Portland, Ore., Sept. 12.—The controversy about the division between the Union Pacific and the Oregon Short Line companies which caused the open ing of the Oregon gateway and the establishment of through rates and train service in connection with the Colorado lines, has culminated in the cancellation of all through freight and passenger tariffs on business to and from Portland and points on the Oregon Baliroad and Navigation Company's line, and whe discontinuance of train service via Granger and the Union Pacific. The cancellation takes effect on September 21, it is asserted by shippers that this action will make fittle change in the handling of the freight business, because the Union Pacific for several months has discriminated against the Oregon lines by turning over their Portland business to the Southern Pacific at Ogden for transportation via Sacramento.

The through passenger service via the Union Pacific is more important, and its discontinuance will materially divert the business of the Oregon Baliway and Navigation Company to the through lines via Spokane and Ogden.

Erastus Wiman delivered an address yesterday afternoon in Prohibition Fark to an audience of atout one thousand persons, many of whom were workingmen. His subject was "The Average Condition of the Workingman and How to Amend It."

Mr. Wiman said at the start that the present prosperity would not be lasting, because It was based on the misfortunes of other nations, and that deliber wheat and prosperity founded entirely on agricultural products could only be of a temporary benefit. He predicted an increase of population in the Greater New-York in the next decade to ten millions, and said if the Nation increased as it had in the past exports would entirely cease. He expressed the opinion that the protection principle would end in great National disaster and advocated, in its stead, reciprocity. He also suggested free ports of entry, placing one on the Atlantic, one on the Gulf and one on the Pacific ceast. These, he said, had been tried by Germany successfully, and were no experiment. Starte Island, he said, was the ideal place for the free port on the Atlantic coast. It afforded places for the reception of raw material, its manufacture, storage and shipment, as well as land for the operatives homes. He also advocated the abelition of the liquor traffic, saying it cost the workingmen nearly $160.00,00 each year.

Telephone messages were sent to this city a short time afterward for doss with which to trace the murderer, but they could not be sent, as the Sheriff of Brooks County had them tracing a fogitive there. Every effort will be made, however, to capture Dampier and punish him for his crime.

The cause of the tragedy is said to date back three years, when Dampier awa prosecuted for stealing some meat from Parker, Dampier was convicted and sent to the chain gang. He swore vengeance at the time, declaring that he would kill Parker on sight if he was released or when his term expired. His term expired six or seven months ago.
